Case Study Series - Naked Clean House Cleaning

About Naked Clean

Naked Clean is a local and family owned business that offers house-cleaning services across San Diego. Accredited by the Better Business Bureau, Naked Clean offers home cleaning services using only non-toxic cleaning materials. Based out of Carlsbad, California, they offer their cleaning services 6 days a week. Naked Clean has a weekend cleaning staff available as well.

“AMA Networks went out of their way to support the growth of our organization. We have been using their IT Security Solution and IT Managed Services for about a year now. There’s absolutely no one out there in the IT market that beats their experience, knowledge and skills in the domain. AMA Networks has been with us every step of our organizational growth. From upgrading the hardware, security software and data recovery processes, we now have everything in place to continue our incredible growth,” says Dave Leonhart, the President of Naked Clean.

The Challenge

Naked Clean had been facing server reliability issues - IT Security and PCI Compliance, for a while. Having serviced mostly residential clients, their consumer database primarily consists of user information that demands the highest of confidentiality. With their database increasing day by day and chances of break-ins becoming more obvious, data security and recovery in case of loss became their biggest on-going concern.

After having tried many IT Management Service Providers and getting unsatisfactory results, Naked Clean moved their entire IT Security and Managed IT Services to AMA Networks on an industry recommendation. AMA Network’s initial task was to take over their IT management in terms of hardware and software upgrades and updating their computer systems with the latest and highest levels of data encryption.

The Solution

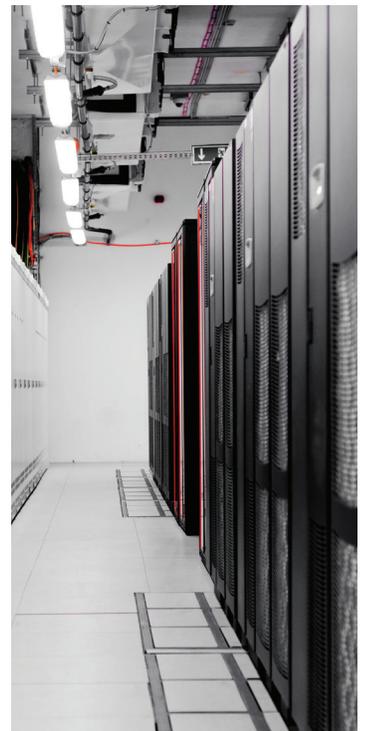

Through detailed and careful analysis, AMA Networks quickly identified and corrected multiple issues that were causing downtimes and potential future security issues for Naked Clean. Apart from upgrading their server for an efficient uptime and securing all their credit card servers, AMA Networks also helped them establish a robust long term data recovery process. The data recovery setup comprised of creating a backup system on cloud setup to keep the data off-site for safety. “AMA analyzed every aspect of our work. In fact they identified a problem that would have most probably gone unnoticed - our telephone system that was clashing with our other hardware upgrades, saving us a lot of finances over time,” says Dave.

With AMA Networks’ Manage IT Services, your business can enjoy the benefits of an in-house IT team without the financial and organizational downsides. We not just manage your IT tasks in totality, but also keep all your mission-critical data secure with robust backup and recovery solutions. Isn’t it time today to contact AMA Networks to see how they can help save you time and money?
